Law firm ranking agencies confirm that Wobeser y Sierra, S.C. (VWyS) is the leading firm for dispute resolution services in Mexico and one of the most prominent in the field in the Latin American region.

The dispute resolution practice of VWyS is domestic and international, and its clients include many Fortune 500 companies. Over the past 27 years, the firm has successfully represented several companies and foreign governments in a wide variety of disputes of different sizes and complexities. Recently, the firm participated in setting the landmark of the COMMISA's case, in which it assisted the client in achieving a decision in US Courts which ordered the recognition of an award which was previously nullified in Mexico.

As to the arbitration practice, members of the firm have acted as counsel to parties, arbitrators, experts on Mexican law and secretaries to tribunals. The added experience of the practice group members sums well above 150 complex proceedings involving commercial, construction and investment disputes. All the practice group members are very familiar with the implementation of the arbitration rules of international institutions, such as the ICC, AAA, ICDR, ICSID and LCIA, and domestic institutions, such as CANACO and CAM.

The dispute resolution practice group of the firm is co-headed by Claus von Wobeser and Marco Tulio Venegas, and two recently appointed partners, Adrian Magallanes and Diego Sierra who lead a team of 15 attorneys, all graduates with honors from the top law schools in Mexico, U.S. and Europe. The level of sophistication of this practice group is unparalleled in Mexico and highly competitive worldwide.
